

CORRUPTION

Abuse of public power for private gain is called corruption. Corruption is root cause of all evils.

It enhance unemployment which results in the engagement of youth in evil acts.

Unfortunately, Pakistan is also suffering from this misfortune. According to international report on corruption Pakistan is ranked 140 out of 180 countries.

There are many causes of corruption. The main and basic causes of corruption are, lack of transparency, lack of accountability, low salaries of employees.

Lack of Transparency means there is no proper record that from where funds granted, what was the amount of such funds, and where such funds are utilized.

Furthermore, there is no strong institution which asks from such departments that this amount is granted you, where you have spent such amount.

In addition, the employees whose salary is too low then cannot manage their family.

For only that reason they do corruption.
In the end, corruption is curse everyone has to save himself from this curse.
