KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

According to E.F. Schumacher, a gift of knowledge is more preferable than gift of material things. By giving a gift of knowledge to anyone, indeed you are going to stand him on his own feet. While by giving a gift of material things, you indeed make him dependent. As saying goes; give a man a fish, you are making him dependent while teach him a act of fishing, he can help him all his life. That is why aid programmes is less resistant than intellectual gifts. Former makes man dependent while later makes independent. Oftenly, a gift of material goods leads to development.

EDUCATION and Its Role in Demography

According to Drane Ranich, Education doesnot develop in isolation - it prevails in society by change in demography, technology and the family.

The main of education is to learn basic skills to run the day to day affairs of the life.

According to Horac marm, "Intelligence is the primary ingredient in the wealth of nations".

Education always brings demographic change. it tends to move from poor nations to rich nations. it upto host country that either it adopt the immigrants culture in their own society or push them back. In effect, the state schools may encourage trends that raise doubt about the purpose or necessity of state system of education.
