

NAME: Jyoti
Batch: 567

DATE: / / Improve sentence structure and grammar

Topic: ~~Good Economy with policies~~ is a Key to Success

Improve coherence of ideas

A- Introduction

- 1- Franklin D. Roosevelt Quote
- 2- An overview of the fact that policies play a key role in success of a state
- 3- Thesis statement

B- Why not ~~Economy with policies~~ is

Key to SUCCESS

1- political stability Can achieve economic growth

a- political stability has provided more opportunities to the state and multi-national companies to increase foreign direct investment (FDI)

b- McDonald, pepsi, CocaCola etc

2- Rule of law Can be strengthened with the help of good policies

a- It helps to ensure equal rights among the masses

b- United Nation charter 1949
human rights

3- Crucial role of policies in strengthening diplomatic ties with neighbouring countries

a- Formation of alliances do

Show certainty in your arguments

DATE: / /

achieve national interests

b- SEATO, CENTO

4- political stability led towards technological development

a- establishment of nuclear power like India '1974', and Pakistan 1998

b- Space exploration like NASA and SPACEX

5- promotion of long term policies and its practical implementation (con.) ensure through policies

a- National Action Plan (NAP)

Pakistan's security policy

b- Paris Agreement on climate change

6- The emergence of insurgent group will be addressed through political means a- conducting operations to counter Baloch insurgents

b- Operation Zarb-e-Azb (2014) Raad-ul-Farood (2017)

7- Empowerment of Marginalized groups

a- political movements (con.) empower marginalized communities

DATE: 1/1

b - Giving them a platform to advocate for their rights and interests.

C - On what grounds critics argued that Economy not politics is key to success

1 - The economy helps in the efficient allocation of resources

2 - A healthy economy boosts
Consumer Confidence

D - Steps to further strengthen the politics

1 - Ensuring accountability and transparency

2 - promoting Nationalism

E. Conclusion

DATE: / /

"In policies, nothing happens by accident. If it happens, you can bet it was planned that way. When you preach the end of your rope, then knot it in it and hang on." The above

Famous quotation has written by "Franklin D. Roosevelt" one of the famous president of United States of America. This quotation is about the importance of the policies which plays a crucial role for the growth and development of a nation in social, political, economic, technological and other discipline. Policies is essential to maintain peace and prosperity within a country. It also helps to strengthen the diplomatic ties with other neighbouring.

In international scenario the developing countries are more powerful than compared to the under developed countries. The reason behind is the formation of a good policies. However, not economy but policies is key to success because political stability can achieve economic growth, rule of law

DATE: / /

Can be strengthened with the help of good policies. Crucial role of politics in strengthening the diplomatic ties, political stability and towards technological developments promotion of long term policies and its practical implementation can ensure through policies the emergence of insurgent groups will be addressed through political means. The empowerment of marginalized groups.
On the contrary, critics argued that economy not policies is key to success, because economy helps in the efficient allocation of resources and a healthy economy boosts Consumer Confidence. Some steps to further strengthen the policies. Ensuring accountability and transparency, promoting nationalism. In this regard not economy but policies is key to success. Critics pointed views about economy in well for example to further strengthen the policies.

Political stability can achieve economic growth. The political stability is essential for any nation to design

state policies according to which becomes helpful to maintain good economy. According to the different theorists in international relations stated that: policies and economy go hand to hand. For example, the great depression 1929, political stability has provided more opportunities to the state and multi-national companies to increase foreign direct investment which is ultimately helpful to the economic growth of a country like McDonald's, Pepsi, Coca-Cola etc. Hence economic prosperity can attain through good policies in a country.

Equally important, policies is also very important to ensure rule of law. Can only be done if the state is provided with the help of good policies. Similarly, it provides circumstances to all the citizens of the state to enjoy the equal rights, and survive their living according their own ambitions. In rule of law no one is consider above then law.

DATE: 1/1

According to this all the masses are equal in ground of laws made in poor or rich. On this perspective the international Organization United Nation Charter 1945 has focused on human rights.

The international charter more emphasised the importance of rule of law which is possible through policies. It has formed the structure of a country. Therefore not only it is important but firstly the policies is indispensable for the growth and development of a nation by maintaining rule of law.

Furthermore, policies not only play an indispensable role to ensure "rule of law" but also play a significant role in strengthening the diplomatic ties with the neighbouring countries. For example, the formation of alliances, which is essential to further strengthen the diplomatic ties such as, SEATO, and CENTO. There are the non-governmental organization joined by Pakistan after its independence.

In order to maintained a good relation with United states (with similar, Pakistan has also made alliance with China, as well, to achieve their national interest through designing their foreign policy and maintain a friendly relation with neighbouring states. Hence, politics shapes the diplomatic relations of a country not economy, but economy can be attain through good policies.

Trade is important in all the domains which ultimately helps to the prosperity of a nation.

Notably, political stability led towards technological development. Technology is a tool or a medium through which states can achieve the advancement, and makes themselves prominent in the international world by the establishment of nuclear power like India and Pakistan being a nuclear states.

India became a nuclear state in 1974, while Pakistan become in 1990. Through there establishment it can be easily judged that the importance of technological development which is possible through good policies.

Similarly, The Space exploration like NASA and Space X both are the significant foreign companies working on technological development. It will emphasize that technology is essential for any nation in order to achieve growth and development.

Therefore, the technological development can be attainable through good policies.

Additionally, promotion of long-term policies and its practical implementation can ensure through policies. The long-term sustainable policies are very essential to the welfare in order to achieve their interest. It also helps the practical implementation of the policies in social, political, and security perspective.

Similarly, one of the policy has designed by the "Pakistan in World. It strengthens them is a security that war" National Action plan (NAP). Equally importance. In international scenario, one of the most important long-term policy is "Paris Agreement on Climate Change" which represents a collective and binding negotiations among the states in order to combat the natural threats. So, the promotion of long-term policies are possible through policies. Therefore, policies is essential to ensure the long-term policies and its practical implementation.

Notably, the emergence of insurgent groups will be addressed through political means. Policies help to counter the ongoing threats within a country or beyond the territories of a country. Policies also provide the authorities to conduct military operations against the insurgent groups.

For example, Pakistan was conducted operations in 2014 and 2017 "Operation Zarb-e-Azb and Operation Raheel-e-Faisla". The basic purpose of conducting these operations war to address the insurgent groups which are performing illegal activities against the government. Hence, policies is essential to counter insurgent groups.

DATE: 1/1

Moreover, policies is helpful to empower marginalized groups. Those groups are marginalized due to some factors. The policies is a pathway by giving them a platform to advocate their rights and interests.

Through political representation, these groups can influence legislation and policies that directly affect their life.

For example, social movements often push for changes that laws promote equality and justice such as civil rights or anti-discrimination laws.

Hence, behind the empowerment of marginalized groups politics has played a crucial role. Which will empower the masses to bring a transformation in a country.

Initial paragraphs have discussed the policies is key to success. The proceeding paragraphs will discuss the critical views on economy.

The economy plays a crucial role in the efficient allocation of resources by utilizing mechanism such as supply and demand to determine that resources are distributed.

In a market economy, prices act as signals to both producers and consumers.

Therefore, economy is key to success not policies.

Similarly, a healthy economy significantly boosts consumer confidence by creating a sense of stability and security. People see rising employment rates, increasing wages, and a thriving market. They feel more optimistic about their financial future.

This confidence encourages consumers to spend more, as they believe their jobs and incomes are secure. Ultimately, a robust

DATE: 1/1

economy fosters a positive feed-back that can increase consumer confidence and economic growth. Hence, economy not policies is key to success.

Above paragraph has discussed about the critics views, and proceeding paragraph will discuss the steps to further strengthen the policies.

There are many practical and implementable recommendations to further strengthen the policies. One of them is ensuring accountability and transparency. The government should focus on these steps in order to maintain peace and prosperity in their country, because justice is not possible without accountability and transparency. Therefore, the essential and implementable step is to ensure accountability and transparency.

Notably, promoting nationalism is also one of the steps to further strengthen the policies. It can Serve to unite citizens around shared values, history, and cultural identity. By fostering a sense of pride in one's nation, nationalism can enhance social cohesion and encourage individuals to contribute positively to their communities. Therefore, promoting nationalism is the way to strengthen the policies.

To conclude, not economy but policies is a key to success, the critics point of view about economy far as well as the steps to further strengthened the policies it plays a indispensable role for the growth and development of a nation. The developing countries are strengthening their policies in order to get progress, and advancement in social, political and technological field. The policies is key to success not economy, because political stability

DATE: 1/1

Can achieve growth, while at the same time ensure welfare with the help of good policies, strengthening the diplomatic ties with neighbouring countries, technological advancement, promotion of long-term policies. The emergence of insurgent groups will be addressed, as well empowerment of marginalized groups.

According to the critics economy is key to success, because of the efficient allocation of resources.

And healthy economy boosts consumer confidence. Strategies to improve policies may include; ensuring accountability and transparency, promoting nationalism. Unification of Germany and Italy emphasizes the importance of policies.