

From Homefront to the Frontline: Women's Impact on National Security and Stability.

OUTLINE-

- ① Introduction.
Thesis Statement:-

Women have always been the keepers of change from within a state to human activists. Unfortunately, women of today still have to face cultural and societal barriers to proceed from the homefront to the frontline. However, by taking pragmatic measures women's impact on national security and stability will rise. Have been at forefront of change

- ② Decoding the topic.

Relevant and well or

- ③ What Impact do women have on National Security and Stability?

a- Women have proven to be the greatest leader (Indira Gandhi, Mahatma Gandhi)

b- Determination and courage: Suffragist movement.

- e- Fighting against the odds and be resilient (Ruth Bader Ginsberg)
- f- From an economist to the foreign ambassador women see no boundaries (Hina Rabbani Khan, Malala Yousafzai)
- e- Women creates soft image of a country (Naila Kayani, Shaheen Shaid)
- f- Women in forefront build the culture of cohesion and tolerance (Malala Yousafzai)
- g- Women creates stability when including in decision making processes. (Michelle Bachelet)
- h- Women empowerment led to the peace and stability of the country (Beni Coleman)

Bring stability

④

Challenges faced by the women of today in progressing from the homefront to the frontline.

a- High illiteracy rate of women and girls threatens the stability of the country. (64% of women can not read and write)

b- Misogynistic mindset and harassment prevent them from reaching to the top tier positions.

c- Lack of flexible hours and sponsorships hinders national security.

(5) Solution in progressing women impacts on National Security and stability.

a- State can introduce flexible education programme for women (India and Australia)

b- Increase women representation in key position: policy makers to executives. (Nor etc countries)

c- Safe and secure environment will uplift the masses by stabilize the country.

(6) Conclusion