

The Worst form of inequality is Making Unequal things Equal

1. Introduction
2. Differentiating Equality and equity
3. How is making unequal things equal, the worst form of inequality?
 - i) Treating unequal things as equal ignores the inherent diversity of human experiences and needs.
 - ii) Equal pay for unequal work can lead to inefficiency of resource allocation.
 - iii) Equal distribution of resources without considering varying needs can exacerbate poverty.
 - iv) Some ideas can be explained in less words
 - v) Making all individuals equal by removing social hierarchy diminishes social order.
 - vi) Equal workload without considering individual capabilities is humiliation of individual's capacities.

- Day/Date
- vii) In a political structure, equal powers to all members on result in anarchy.
- viii) Same appreciation of good and bad social behaviors blurs the difference between good and evil.
- ix) Giving same importance to the opinion of an expert and an amateur is an act of inequality.
- x) Equal treatment of a criminal and a victim results in compromise of justice.
- xi) Giving equal value to an idle and an accomplished person diminishes the spirit of higher achievement.
- xii) The phenomenon of organization and hierarchy in nature is ignored by treating unequal things as equal.
- (iii) Aristotle: "Justice is equality, but not for equal."
- iv) Same education for all policy is blind to the obvious need of different professions.
- Maxim

Uniform political policies for all citizens discriminates with the demands of minorities,

Conclusion

U can also substantiate ur
conclusion