

Crippling position of Uncle Sam

The world is now a bipolar world. Long gone the days, when it experienced American hegemony. Nowadays, China is following the suit of Cold War's superpower Russia or even more than that. To bury the ongoing bucket, US ~~se~~ national security adviser visited China. Similarly, US president Biden and China's Xi Jinping also came to the table. According to US secretary of state Antony Blinken, it is the time to give world options to either choose China or US. Forcing them would not work. It seems that America has learnt lessons from past failures. However, when America was going to extra mile to keep Beijing at Bay, China introduced itself in world as new economic and tech superpower. Evidently, a poll conducted from Asean countries disclose that US is an unreliable power and people picked China over USA.

Expression is also fine