

-(Q.1) -

Outline and Introduction

"Freedom of expression is a double-edged sword"

1) Introduction

Freedom of expression is nevertheless a double-edged sword despite being beneficial it can ~~also~~ ~~the~~ be as fatal ^{as} ~~the~~ sword.

Dominant positive

2) Features of freedom of expression

- a) Communication of public opinion
- b) Perception of diversification of ideas of people
- c) Generation of awareness among unknownings
- d) Utilization for addressing needs of society
- e) Generation of public pressure for betterment
- f) Recognition of many talented individuals because of their characteristic thoughts

3) Dominant Negative Features / Fault lines of freedom of expression

- a) Generation of propoganda against individuals or state institutions
- b) Tool for destruction of image of public figures
- c) Conflict incitment due to difference in opinion
- d) Revelation of state secrets
- e) Encouragment of violence against any group
- g) Encouragment for separatist and seccatarians through social media platfosems

4) Use of this double-edged sword without bloodshed

- a) Awareness campaigns for public for positive and influential use
- b) Policies to regularize the positive use of freedom of expression
- c) Engraving moral values in society

5) Conclusion

" Man

(Sara

being croo

inna

Indi

ref

of the ber

of

of

H

of e

"Man is noblest of all creatures" (Surah Bani Isra'il : verse 70) - Human beings are noblest among ~~all~~ ^{all} living creatures on Earth, since they have innate ability to think and act sensibly. Individuals have their own will, reflection of their thinking. Freedom of expression is the way of representing their thinking, thoughts - It can be beneficial for communication - Freedom of expression expresses unchained views of individuals forming public opinion - It also depicts the individual identity of every person due to difference of opinion - ^{Moreover,} Awareness among individuals can be generated by using freedom in expressing - Many capable leading individuals are highlighted due to their relevant and brutally honest expression - In addition, it also highlights the needs of society. Besides positive impacts of freedom of expression on individuals and society ~~it~~ it also holds flip side of a coin - Freedom of expression can lead to generation of propaganda against individual, group or state. Moreover it destructs ~~the~~ the image of public figures and personalities. Nevertheless, conflict of opinion among individuals arises. This can be a source of incitement of conflicts and anarchical situation in a country. Moreover, propagation of negative thoughts through freedom of expression sabotages peace of country. This can be addressed by awareness campaign, indictment of moral values among individuals of states. In addition, regularization of freedom of expression by policies ~~int~~ intact with human rights can help to extract full essence of freedom of expression. Freedom of expression is nevertheless a double-edged sword despite being beneficial as fatal as sword.