

CSS-2003

The Purpose of University Education

The author believed that the ultimate objective of university education is not to provide writers, leaders, scientists, and economists.

Rather, its ultimate objective is to transform an individual, to be fit for the society.

Additionally, the writer believes, university education could be develops an individual's personality, enabling them to express and entertain their thoughts clearly.

Similarly, has the ability to analyze situations clearly and distinguish from falsehood.