History is filled with such successful people who started their career with difficult times but with the passage of time, they were included in list of successful and famous personalities. Success, respect or fame is not achieved easily, only money is obtained in easy manner. For this purpose, there is one thumb rule that one's ancestor should have property then as a result you would get money. With money, you can buy materialistic things but you cannot buy happiness. So far, human earns respect after many years but to get defame and to become talk of town only one moment is enough.
