

"Significance of middle class"

In 9th century, middle class was marginalized based on their professions and lineage, except people of armed forces and reputed bloodline. In addition, they were socially discriminated everywhere. However, they accepted their fate and adjusted accordingly. But, with time, their expansion and increased influence have made them realise their significance in society as they were well versed of ~~their~~ importance of their social & moral values and work ethics. Despite, diverse opinions on their respectability, ~~of~~ there was convergence of opinions that social and moral norms of elites were not considered as respectable as of middle class.