

Is Pakistan ready to meet challenges of 21st century?

Outline:

1. Introduction:

Thesis Statement: Pakistan is ready to meet challenges of 21st century, however, in many aspects it is not ready. Pakistan's readiness for 21st-century challenges is severely lacking. Despite various hurdles, Pakistan is fully trying to meet the challenges of 21st-century.

2. Why Pakistan is not ready to meet challenges of 21st century? (Thesis)

- Pakistan's governance is facing challenges of weak institutions still in 21st century.
- Pakistan is facing hurdles in political system regarding accountability.
- Pakistan is facing economic decline in 21st century.
- In 21st century, women in Pakistan are yet facing gender inequality challenges.
- Pakistan lags in technology due to under-investment.

3. Despite various hurdles, Pakistan is trying to meet the challenges of 21st century. (Anti-Thesis)

- Pakistan's governance, while facing challenges, has shown improvement in strengthening institutions.

b. People, not systems, are the weakest link; accountability matters.

c. Pakistan's economy if managed efficiently can pickup growth.

d. For the protection of women, govt. of Pakistan has launched many platforms.

e. Pakistan shows tech potential despite challenges.

4. Pakistan is still not ready overweight to many efforts to meet the challenges of 21st century. (Synthesis)

a. A fragile political system can't deliver good governance.

b. Successive governments have failed to provide accountability.

c. Half of the population is below the poverty line due to economic issues.

d. Due to gender inequality, most women have no access to these platforms.

e. Pakistan's tech sector lacks prominence due to various hurdles.

5. Conclusion.