

(b) Rewrite the following dialogue, written in direct speech, in a paragraph form. (5)

Jack: Hello, Swarup! Swatting away as usual. Come out, man; shut up your old books, and come and have a game of tennis.

Swarup: I am sorry I cannot do that, Jack. The examination is drawing near, and I want every hour I can get for study.

Jack: Oh! Hang all examinations! I do not worry about mine. What is the use of them, any way?

Swarup: Well, you can't get a degree if you don't pass the examination; and I have set my heart on being a graduate.

Jack: And pray what good will graduation do you? You may get a clerkship in a government office; but that's all, and there are hundreds of fellows who have got their degrees, and are no nearer getting jobs of any sort.

Swarup: That may be so; but I am not studying so much, to pass my examination and obtain my degree, as to store my mind with knowledge and develop my intellectual faculties.

Jack said hello Swarup by casually stepping him, close your old books, come out and have a game of tennis. Swarup replied that he was sorry as he could not do that, as the examination were drawing near and he needed every hour for study. Jack recklessly said Oh hang all examinations! he does not worry about his and interrogatively asked whether they are of use any way. Swarup confidently replied well, he (Jack) could not get a degree if he does not pass the examination, and he (Swarup) has set his mind on being a graduate. Jack questioned whether graduation would do for you. He (Swarup) might get a clerkship in a government office and that's all, that there are hundred of individuals who had got their degree and are no sooner getting any kind of a job. Swarup replied with slight acceptance that it might be so, but he was not studying so much to pass the examination on to obtain his degree, but to store his mind with knowledge and intellectual faculties.
