Paragraph: Lack of communication between teachers and student.

In Pakistan's Education System, there is lack of communication between teacher and student in the classroom. {Topic sentence}.

The reason is that after giving a lecture, the teacher does not discuss it with students generally. The teacher starts reading from the book, and completes exercises, etc. but doesn't do general discussion with students to bring critical think into them. For example, increasing the number of books in the institutions but lacking focus on the student's critical thinking abilities. In conclusion, instead of increasing the number of books, there should be more focus on communication between teachers and students.
