

The Essay

During the second world war Churchill received message from Hitler that if he would not bomb German Universities then he would also not destroy his ones.

Churchill accepted this offer at once and he said if Cambridge and Oxford universities are safe then they can restore English culture. This is the importance of universities. Even after defeat Germany restored its position because of universities.

According to news agency, twelve universities in Saudi Arabia have joined the first 1000 Universities Ref in the world in the Shanghai ranking. Other universities have ranking number between 301-400. It is good to know that Saudi Arabia has gone so far but it's sad for us that our higher education system has destroyed.

In modern countries like Finland, Canada and Singapore "Higher Education" held in high esteem. They recognized the transformative power of higher education and made significant investments.

In Finland, for example, higher education is free for all the students including international students. This has led to highly educated workforce and thriving economy.

Nelson Mandela said:

“ Education is most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world - ”

→ The founding of Harvard University in 1636 in Massachusetts is the oldest institution of higher education in United States. It was founded to train clergy and has evolved into leading research university.

“ Education is our passport to the future, for tomorrow belongs to people for it today. ”
