

Pr Comprehension (CSS 2021)

Answer 1

The doctrine of power set by new imperial America deny space counseling because the country has proved itself to be a hyperpower. By initiating wars in Afghanistan and Iraq, America has shown that it will use its man power whenever it feels a threat to its security and national interests. Since it considers launching military attacks as a legitimate way of countering security threats, America denies security space counseling.

Answer 5

By 'wise counsel,' Tony Blair meant concerns put forward by governments as well as people across the globe.

Answer 2

Where war has no moral justification, the essence of moral equivalence is found in the resultant questionable reputation of the one who wages war. For example, infinite questions have arisen about America's engagements with other countries due to its willingness to wage war.

Answer 3

Countries occupied and under the tutelage of hyperpower have no space because it does not bring them democracy. It simply means being ruled by warlords. A major part of Afghanistan, one such country, is so destructed that any efforts for its reconstruction seem to go in vain. Moreover, it is extremely challenging to even provide relief aid to rural population. Hence, the war itself and its after effects leave such countries with no space.

Answer 4

Europe and hyper-power US are at cross purposes over the concept of war. This is because in opposition of the French stance, Americans replaced the phrase 'French fries' with 'freedom fries.' Furthermore, products made by France and Germany were not longer demanded or consumed by Americans as a protest against their standpoint of war.

Comprehension (CSS 2017)

Answer 1

It has been lamented in the text that art has disappeared from the ordinary life. It is no longer found in the objects made for the usage of people. Furthermore, individuals who work do not pursue it anymore. It has rather become a domain of a few painters and sculptors.

Answer 2

The difference between ordinary man and an artist lies in the latter's ability to find out and to realize the importance of the aesthetic activity of the spirit. Unlike ordinary man, an artist deeply observes the beauty of the universe and incorporates that discovered beauty in his work. In the process of doing so, the artist brings contentment to his spirit.

Answer 3

We can make our lives beautiful and charming by understanding the significance of the works done by artists. The beauty should be looked for in the objects constructed by men as well as in the universe. Having this awareness would allow us to bring contentment to our unfulfilled spiritual desires. Hence, practicing this will make our lives beautiful and charming.

Answer 4

Beauty is not an ornament to life means that it is not to be seen as something with the primary purpose of providing pleasure. It entails that it cannot be considered as some component of our choice that can be purchased with extra money. Rather, ^{beauty} is something essential to life.

Answer 5

Yes, I agree that art and beauty affects our practical life and morals.

This is because art and beauty mirrors an individual's internal self. Failure to recognize and value them, whether in man-made things or the universe, means failure to connect with the spirit's aesthetic activity.

Hence, a person's practical life and morals would be affected because he is unable to ~~find~~ bring fulfillment to his unsatisfied spiritual desires. This affect makes any man incapable of achieving great things in life, unlike the artists, scientists or saints who have accomplished them throughout the history.
