There are still those devotees of sport who support the emphasis laid on school games and for whom sport is a kind of religion. To them the sporting spirit is the finest attitude with which to face life since its possessor is very conscious of his obligations to the community. Yet the truth about the religion of sport is, that it does not deliver the goods; it fails to produce sportsmen. In actual fact, games have practically no effect on character; for a selfish man will play his games selfishly in spite of all that has been talked about the team-spirit while a chivalrous man will be chivalrous in his games. Games afford an opportunity for showing spirit within; they are a vehicle for virtue or for vice and it is for this that we should value them; not as some miraculous process for making a bad man good or a crooked man straight. If we support the system of compulsory games, let it be for the right reasons.

Support Sports for right reason

Indent the paragraph

People who consider sports as religion ~~they~~ took sportsmanship like religious practices ~~do not~~ ~~meanwhile~~ sports doesn't change someone's traits. <sup>do not</sup> If someone is egocentric, <sup>he</sup> will remain same in sports. Same happens with gentleman core. Games give chance to show their ability, ~~not~~ to change their bad traits into good. So, support sports ~~for~~ right reason.
