A INTRODUCTION :

In public administration all the key public functionaries ought to be people of high caliber, just, energetic and must possess high qualities of head and heart.

In the words of caliph Ali (RA) they should have the qualities of refinement, experience, alertness, insight, serenity, freedom from greed and lust. A civil servant in Islam is a publically responsible person. He has been entrusted with great responsibilities. Hazrat Abu Bakar (RA) when assumed the caliphate is reported to have said :

"In my sight, the powerful and the weak are alike and to both I wish to render justice".

This shows the democratic, responsible, justice-centered, based on rules and law nature of public administration and its functionaries in Islam.

B QURANIC INJUNCTIONS REGARDING RESPONSIBILITIES OF CIVIL SERVANT :

D RESPONSIBILITIES OF CIVIL SERVANT ACCORDING TO CALIPH UMAR :

A civil servant has to entertained the complaints of people and his door should be open to all. This is the principle which form a constant current in Islamic system of administration. The system is humane and in nature. when caliph Umar (R.A) appointed as a governor, he would invariably advise the incumbent "not to make reception hall so that you are accessible to everyone; not to eat refined blood as it is not available to all citizens of the Ummah, not to wear thin cloth because this would make you easy going and not to side a turkish house because this would make you haughty".

E RESPONSIBILITIES OF CIVIL SERVANT ACCORDING TO CALIPH ALI :

According to Caliph Ali (R.A) the responsibilities of an administrator are as under.

- i. He should be an ideal for his staff and fellow citizens and choose the most qualified, honest, truthful and God fearing man.
- ii. He should be impartial and dispense justice with equity and should be very careful about the back biters, corrupt and scandal mongers. He should constantly remain in contact with his staff and control them and should not issue authoritative orders.
- iii. He should strike against corruption, injustice and abuse of authority against citizens and take responsibility for any defect in his staff.
- iv. They should love their fellow citizen as they love themselves and their families and not behave like absolute rulers.

F CONCLUSION :

We conclude the subject discussion with the sermon of Caliph Umar (R.A) :
 "By God, he that is weakest among you, should be in my sight the strongest until I have vindicated for him his right; but him that is strongest which I treat as the weakest, until he complies with the law".
