~~How to Treat Children?~~

Modern educationalists agree ^{up} on ~~not~~ ^{not} interfering ^{enough} too much with children's freedom. Children are not like the pet ~~s~~ ^s animals ^{which} respond according to ~~your~~ ^{our} will. They will not be happy if ~~you~~ ^{we} set them according to ~~your~~ ^{our} preference / desires. It can be useful, if someone enjoys [&] the presence of children without any hidden purpose. Teachers can interfere the child's freedom but without causing emotional stress. Unfortunately, this is impossible for already burdened teachers. Teaching should not be anyone's whole profession; ~~It~~ ^{It} should be just for two-hours, and for those, who spend the remaining day away from children. There should be a friendliness ^y environment instead of strictness. Every decision will be right, if ^a child feels happy.
