

Question-03

Where is the original passage? Please include it in the pdf and resubmit.

We can make our lives beautiful and charming by ^{realising} the ^{significance} of ^{aesthetic} aspects of life activities. We should have to originate some principles of beauty in whatever things we do. ~~Although~~ it would be the addition of charm into our lives.

Question-04

By this expression the author wants to tell that beauty is not conjured mere for the showpiece, rather it is a open choice. The writer believes that beauty is a fundamental part of life. Although he thought of that relation among life and beauty is not optional but it is a compulsory. However, it is not a mere showpiece but it is a very essence of life.

Question-05

As per passage, art and beauty definitely affect our lives and mortals. Both are closely concern with each other, the art is incomplete without beauty as a body without soul. Both are not source of pleasure but give us a spiritual satisfaction. The life without beauty will be spiritually unproductive and such work will be immoral. However, there a religious book named is Bagvad Geeta - means a sound of God. In the hinduism, the beauty and sound of women considered as a part of religion. Geeta was the goddess. So, I do agree with the author.