Topic:-

Human cooperation:

Precis:-

Humans cannot live alone from birth till death we are dependent on each other, clothes, food, shelter, and houses; we need each other to fulfill these needs. Education, books, laws and human rights are dependent on human cooperation, The human comfort, joys, sorrows also depend on human cooperation.

2-

Topic

Take what is good.

Precis

Every country has a national pride. English, French, Germans, Pakistani and others all think their country is greatest. This is however not true. Countries like people have good and bad characteristics. We must take good from others and remove bad from within. Many Pakistanis are poor, unhappy and joyless. We have to evaluate our customs and to keep what is good and discard what is bad. We should take whatever good we find in other countries.

Title: A Filmmaker's Take on Israeli Occupation

Nizar Hassan, a filmmaker by profession, was born in Mashad. He produced a film "Independence" that was essentially a mockery of Israel's celebration of the so called freedom and independence. When the world attention was caught by Israel's annexation of Palestine, the writer received an email from a filmmaker Nizar Hassan in which a link of his new production "My Grandfather's Path" was mentioned. The writer has placed heavy emphases on Palestinian art that might prove fruitful in highlighting Palestinian movement and can effectively prevent Palestine from trap of politics. The writer has praised the splendid production of Nizar Hassan and has remarked that the documentary would be having true impacts if watched without breaks and pauses.

7. Unsolved Exercises for Practice

▪ Practice Exercise

From the moment we are born, we cannot live alone; we stand in continual need of assistance of all around us, for body and soul and spirit; we need clothes which other men make; houses, which other men build, food, which other men produce; we have to get our livelihood by working for others, while others get their livelihood in return by working for us. As children we need our parents to be our comforters, and to take care of others; we cannot exist a day without our fellowmen; we require teachers to educate us: books and masters to teach our trade; and when we have learned it and settled ourselves in life, we require laws made by other men who died hundreds of years before we were born, to secure to us our rights and properties, to secure to our comforts in our station; and we need friends to comfort us in sorrow and to share our joy.

▪ Practice Exercise

In every country, people imagine that they are the best and the cleverest and the others are not so good as they are. The Englishman thinks that he and his country are the best; the Frenchman is very proud of France. The Germans and Italians think no less of their countries and many Pakistanis imagine that Pakistan is in many ways the greatest country in the world. This is wrong. Everybody wants to think well of himself and his country. But really there is no person who has not got some good and some bad qualities. In the same way, there is no country which is not partly good and partly bad. We must take the good wherever we find it and try to remove the bad wherever it may be. We are, of course, most concerned with our own country. Unfortunately, it is in a bad way today. Many of our people are poor and unhappy. They have no joy in their lives. We have to find out how we can make them happier. We have to see what is good in our ways and customs and try to keep it, and whatever is bad we have to
