

Date: _____

Q NO: 01

Defining and explain the anthropological concepts of 'Race' and ethnicity. Critically examining the social and political implications of racial and ethnic categorizations, providing examples from historical and contemporary contexts. What are the implications of ethnic and racial discrimination in Pakistan's Society?

(1)

Introduction: Understanding the basic concept of Race and Ethnicity:

Ethnicity and race are two distinct and different concepts. Both are socially constructed phenomena. However, growing nationalism all across the world has fueled the superiority of race and ethnicity across different societies, leading to a cycle of disasters including ethnic based violence, and structured discrimination in a society. Here the words of Franz Boas affirm perfectly,

Date: _____

"There is no scientific basis for race superiority."

As ill luck would have it, in some societies,

still ethnic based and racial discrimination are at its peak: Pakistan, India and the US. Ultimately, to understand the structured discrimination in societies, this question will explore the theories which explain and criticize the concept of race and ethnicity.

(2)

Explaining the term of race and ethnicity:

Ethnicity:

Ethnicity refers to the concept of shared culture, language and identity.

Race:

Race refers to the grouping of people based on their physical features.

Date:

Ethnic Boundary Theory by Fredrick Barth and Social Constructionism explains the concept of race and ethnicity:

(a) Ethnic Boundary Theory (Fredrick Barth)

Ethnic boundary theory explains that ethnicity is not related to culture, however, related to boundaries created by people from groups.

For example, Balochi, Pashtoon, Punjabi, and Sindhi live together, but maintain their traditions.

(b)

Social Constructionism by Benedict Anderson

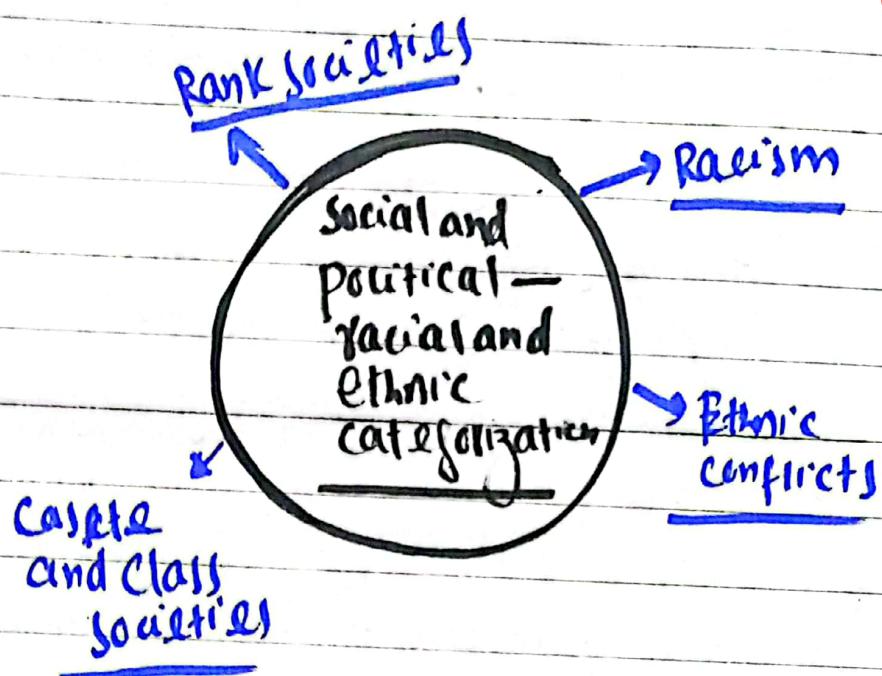

This theory explains that race and ethnicity are not biological, but social.

For example, "Pakistani" is a national identity, imagined by people, which did not exist before 1947.

Date:

(3)

Critically Examining the social and political implications of racial and ethnic categorization...

(i)

Rank societies are the ultimate result of political and social categorization:

Rank societies are the ultimate result of political and social categorization.

For instance: Tribal chief in Balochistan (contemporary example); having most power on resource, etc.

Date:

(ii)

Racism is planted by political and social categorization:

Indeed, political and social categorization fueled the concept of racism among different societies

Contemporary example: Rohingya Muslims in Myanmar.

Historical example: Nazi superiority complex (Aryan civilization).

(iii)

Caste and class societies result of political and social categorization:

Marxism also criticized the class societies. However, it is the result of categorization; its implications can be seen in the contemporary era even.

Contemporary example: Dalits in India.

Historical example: British introduced class system in India. (Aryan and Dravidian)

Date: _____

(iv)

Ethnic conflicts are the result of political and social categorization!

Ethnic conflicts can still be manifested across the different regions of the world; this effect can be seen in historical period too, due to political and social categorization.

Contemporary example: Balochistan insurgency killing an Punjabi people.

Historical example: Hindu and Muslim conflicts during Subcontinent period.

(v)

Analyzing the impacts of ethnic and racial discriminations

in Pakistan:

A number of deteriorating impacts can be seen due to ethnic conflicts across Pakistan.

Date:

Sectarian war

Mob violence

implications of ethnic and racial conflict

class societal formation

Terrorism

(i)

Mob violence is the result of ethnic and racial discrimination:

Recently, in Janwya, a mob attacked a church, killed and injured the Christians. Consequently, leading to the environment of instability for minorities. Similarly, in 2024, Ahmadiya community two people was killed by a children due to racial mindset.

Date:

(ii)

Ethnic and racial discrimination result in terrorism!

Terrorism is the ultimate cause of ethnic favoritism. Recently, ethnic violence between Balochi and Punjabi through insurgency of Balochistan can be ignited. Examples In 2024, in Musakhail - Balochistan - 11 punjabi were killed by Baloch insurgents.

(iii)

Sectarian war among Suni and Shia is the result of superiority complex, Sectarian war in Pakistan becomes an Augan stable for society stability. For example: In 2024, a rise in sectarian conflicts between Shia and Suni can be seen in Parachinar.

Date:

(iv)

Class societies formations the result of ethnic and racial discrimination:

Racial discrimination is the ultimate reason of class societies. For instance, In Sindh, Balochistan, Punjab
and KPK, concept of Chudary, Malak, Sardar, Nawab ultimately create class societies.

satisfactory
answer is fine
but manage the time
accordingly
over all it is fine
10/20

Conclusion

Race and ethnicity superiority have become major problem for the world.
This problem needs to be controlled;
it has the potential to destroy the existing pillars of the society's order.
Islam answer the superiority of race and ethnicity in following words.

'إِنَّمَا الْجَنَاحُ عَنِ الْمُنْكَرِ'

"And, we have cleared man from single soul"
Al-Qur'an

in P...