

→ Essay.

(2016)

→ Gender Equality is a myth!

→ Outline.

1) Introduction:

2) What is meant by Gender Equality.

3) Nature v/s Nurture debate of Gender.

3.1) Women has progesterone and Estrogen while men has Testosterone.

3.2) Women have left Hemisphere more convoluted while men have Right Hemisphere more convoluted.

3.3) Owing to difference in Hormonal structure Female is more Emotional while male is not.

3.4) Women have XX Chromosomes while men have XY chromosomes.

3.5) It is the society that nurture the difference in male and Female traits.

4) Role of some great women's to achieve Gender Parity in Society:

4.1) Fatima Jinnah as a Freedom Fighter

4.2) Catherine: The Great leader of Russia that made Russia great Power.

4.3) Sojourner Truth as Suffragist and Civil Rights Activist that work for Gender parity.

4.4) Jacinda Ardern become Prime Minister of New Zealand.

4.5) Ronda Rousey as mixed martial arts Champion.

Unable to comprehend the topic properly...
Topic is gender equality is a myth what do you think??

Aside from biological reasons, both genders have their own strength and weaknesses.

Directly link all these points with gender equality

5) Role of some great women's who did not get enough opportunities though work hard as men:

5.1) Marie Curie was the great Revolutionary Scientist

5.2) Ada Lovelace as the first computer Programmer.

5.3) Margaret Hamilton as the first woman for Apollo 11 mission to moon.

But still all of them are popular for their work

6) ~~Status~~ of Pakistan in Gender parity:

6.1) Access to Healthcare: According to UNICEF more than 700 babies die every day in Pakistan.

6.2) Access to Education: More than 25% girls drop out from school due to early marriages as per Dawn 2024.

6.3) Access to political activities: Only a small proportion of female population in Pakistan participate in political activities - (Dawn)

7) Conclusion:

General comments

Proper understand the topic

Make all your arguments

directly linked with the topic gender equality is a myth or not or do you think there is already gender equality in the world.