→ INSTRUCTION IN YOUTH IS LIKE ENGRAVING IN STONE

* OUTLINE:-

1) Introduction:-

2) What does the statement signify?

    i) It shows the importance of giving instructions to the ever-learning youth's mind

    ii) It highlights the fact of fixating the idea being instructed to youth, as like engraving in the stone.

3) How the youth's mind validates instructions being given, as engraved words in the stone?

    3A) Being unexperienced of many realities, a word for youth can be a guiding path forever. (Case in point: An advice for a son, to tackle the life experiences, by his father).

    3B) Being the child, effective nurturing ensures productive and modest life later on. (Case in point: Instructing or correcting a teenager with non-punitive style, when he/she commits a mistake)

    3C) Youth on getting imposed to academia, it fortifies the skills and talent base with the instructions of mentors. (Case in point: Carrier counselling sessions nurture the minds and prove to be the career guide)

3D) With the ever-learning and ever-growing minds, a youth learns much through the life lessons of others, being instructed or taught.

(Case in point: the life experiences of hardships and hardwork of the great men, shape the personalities)

4) Is it necessary that the instructions always get fixed in their minds, like an engraved stone?

4A) Harsh or forcible way of instructing the youth can make them rebellious.

(Bangladesh's revolution as youth movement emerged).

4B) Visual instructing method is far more productive than verbal instructing method

(Case in point: The teaching methods of public and private schools, are validated by the levels of productivity)

4C) Mutual understanding and context based instruction base proves to be more efficient

(Case in point: Psychiatrist leaves the + lasting impression by getting in someone else's shoes)

5) Conclusion.
