Essay

In Pakistan, women are huge in its population. Almost ~~60~~50%-70% population of Pakistan consist on women. This huge population of Pakistan dependent on their male counterparts to fulfill their needs, which is not only makes women struggle, but also makes Pakistan struggle. How do you consider that a country can progress, while it is huge population depends on opposite gender for their basic needs? So, it is not only a drawback for women empowerment, but it also a drawback for Pakistan economy, integration and prosperity. In Pakistan, women are struggling for their basic needs and also facing lack of basic rights regarding their marriage or job. Women are not only struggling in Pakistan, even the women are struggling in developed countries for their basic rights. It is not only the issue of Pakistan, it is the issue of all over the world. Women face different issues. In Pakistan, women faces issues and challenges some of them are domestic violence, marital rape, marriage rights, harassment, property rights, honor killing, typical patriarchal system and much lack of jobs and business opportunities and much more of that. ^{Some} The ways to solve this ~~by~~ Problem and to bring women empowerment in Pakistan are provide them protection by rules and regulations, provide them business opportunities, build school, colleges and universities for them, special quota in jobs and educate and aware them about their rights. Although various NGOs, organisation and institute are working for women rights and to empower them, yet it seems difficult to bring women empowerment and to provide them rights in Pakistan.
