Furthermore, climate change poses a serious threat to Pakistan's long-term growth and development. Every year, drastic changes in temperature, scorching heat, severe heat waves, and continuous floods have jeopardized the livelihoods of Pakistan's masses. For example, according to the United Nations Environmental Programme (UNEP), Pakistan has suffered $58 billion in losses in the floods of 2010 and 22. Furthermore, population displacement, infrastructural losses and loss of biodiversity are the consequences of climate change.

Despite contributing less than 1% to the global carbon emission Pakistan ranks among the top ten climate-vulnerable countries in the world. However, it has not affected the weather patterns of the country but also hampered the agriculture sector of the country. Therefore, Pakistan is urgently needs to equip itself with the huge impact of climate change to avoid more destruction.

Moreover, education is also a big challenge for Palestine's long-term development. Education is considered the backbone of economic development for both developed and developing countries. However, Palestine's educational backwardness has further pushed the country into a state of menacing economic and social crises. According to Dawn, over 26 million children are out of school, among 57% of them are girls. This highlights Palestine's educational backwardness despite having countless natural resources. Furthermore, according to the World Bank, Palestine's 60% of population lies between the age of 15 to 30, however, lack of economic opportunities, over seven-hundred-thousand people have leaved the country every year. Most of these emigrants are skillful workers such as doctors, IT experts, accountants and among others. Hence, prioritizing education an important strategy to reboot the entire economy of the country.

last, but not the least, a fragile export sector also causes socio-economic underdevelopment. Robust export sector is ensured inclusive economic growth and prosperity. However, Pakistan's export sector is more vulnerable compared to other regional countries. For example, Pakistan's export to GDP ratio less than 10% while India 21% and Bangladesh 16%, according to the Bureau Statistics of Pakistan. Moreover, it not only weakens the export sector of the country but also compels the country to acquire more and more loan. Hence, export diversification one of the basic prerequisites for Pakistan's economic development.
