

as - responsive.
transparency

e: _____

Day: _____

Importance of Making Rules.

Making rules in management is important for functioning an organization. Its purpose is to ensure the workers about their skills.

A company sets rules to run the organization well.

Rules must be updated not outdated that should be strictly followed by people.

However, in some organizations people do not properly follow them which affect the reputation of the organization. Despite overlooked, rules should be followed for the better function of an organization.