In the heart of bustling cities, urban green spaces stand as oases of tranquility, providing respite from the hustle and bustle. Parks, adorned with vibrant flora, become havens for relaxation and recreation. The greenery offers a sanctuary for diverse wildlife, creating a delicate balance between urban development and environmental preservation. Beyond their aesthetic appeal, city parks play a crucial role in fostering community bonds. Families gather for picnics, friends engage in sports, and individuals find solace amidst nature's embrace. These communal spaces serve as venues for cultural events, open-air concerts, and art installations, enriching the urban experience. The benefits of urban green spaces extend beyond leisure. They contribute to improved air quality, mitigate the urban heat island effect, and promote overall well-being. Access to nature within city limits becomes a vital aspect of mental health, offering a refuge for introspection and rejuvenation. However, the challenge lies in balancing the increasing urbanization with the preservation of green spaces. Sustainable urban planning becomes imperative to ensure the coexistence of concrete jungles and natural havens. Efforts to create and maintain parks, tree-lined avenues, and green rooftops become integral components of shaping cities that prioritize both human and environmental health. As cities evolve, the preservation and enhancement of urban green spaces become a shared responsibility. The vision is to cultivate urban landscapes that seamlessly integrate nature into the tapestry of city life, fostering a sustainable and harmonious cohabitation between human progress and the environment.

Thoughts of Al-Ghazali, the Muslim philosopher of 12th century, are most misconceived.

As a philosopher, he has argued that the Holy Quran is open to as many interpretations as there are drops of water in a sea.

According to him, "Do you not know that Holy Quran is like an ocean <sup>and</sup> you have the right to dwell into unlimited depths of the meanings."

By dwelling into depths of the Quran, you can become enlightened by getting the pearls and Yakoot. He further adds, "why you keeps lying ~~by~~ on the Shove by accepting the visible truth. It is allowed for muslims to deny, oppose and move ahead. Al-Ghazali is a perfect mixture of traditionalism and modernism.
