

Population Control is a National Urgency.

2012

Today is the time of substantive exchange of ideas and dialogue on control of increase in population. There is a dire need of effective measure should be taken for population control in order to curb the challenges confronting the nation and to safeguard its resource. Without any control mechanism, increase in population will cause a decline in quality of life. The elite understands the significance of population control, but the slum, ~~the~~ the most neglected part of society, lacks the privilege of awareness regarding this pressing issue. The underprivileged becomes a toy for influential and power hungry maniacs. This mass is always gets misused in the name of religion, preservation of rights and activism of elite. The bigwigs avoid addressing the issue, perceiving it is explosive bomb, yet it remains a pressing concern.

Words = 130

original : 380