“Womens are leaders everywhere you look - from the CEO who runs a Fortune 500 company to the housewife who raises her children and heads her household. Our country was built by strong women, and we will continue to break down walls and defy stereotypes.”

Women have been facing gender disparity for centuries. Women are more confined to domestic responsibilities such as cooking, cleaning and taking care of their children and family. With the passage of time, the role of women has transformed. Women are now excelling in various fields of life. They are governing nations through their leadership capabilities and competencies. They are not only leading at the national level but also representing their countries at international platforms. At the global level, women are promoting peace and stability by contributing to the protection of fundamental human rights. This evidences the cooperative nature of human. Their efforts contribute to the equal political participation of all women, shedding the label of "pink-collar jobs" they are fulfilling their duties as Supreme Court judges within the judicial system. From serving as judges to Lieutenant Colonels, it is evident that their roles cannot be confined by gender. These accomplishments are only attainable due to their access to education. Many women direct their attention toward the education of girls, as education is the most powerful tool through which history and laws can be reshaped. Not only in politics, but they are playing a vital role in boosting economic development. Transitioning from financial dependence to independence, their position has evolved from domestic earners to entrepreneurs. They are bringing innovation in science and technology. Overcoming all barriers, have embarked on a new journey from Earth to space as astronauts. This concludes that women are no longer a symbol of fragility. They are dismantling all stereotypes and patriarchal norms, advancing forward, and demonstrating their potential. Their role is continuously evolving in various leadership and decision-making forums.
