As it has been rightly said that "A dream is not something that you see while sleeping rather a dream is something that does not let you sleep." Indeed, my dream to become a Civil Servant has been ~~realizing~~ experiencing many sleepless nights and days. Since 2019 I have been longing to become a Civil Servant either through Central Superior Services (CSS) or Provincial Management Services (PMS). My desire of becoming a Civil Servant has been ~~driven~~ driven by three key reasons. Firstly, I want to be in a position where I could serve my people and work for the betterment of my Country. Secondly, I, like anyone else, want to achieve a fine and because career for myself. Thirdly, since my childhood I had the keen interest in learning new things from different people and areas. So to do this, Civil Service is the best option. Thus, aforementioned factors are the reason why I want to become a Civil Servant.

Right from the Independence, poor governance and improper public service delivery had been the key issues of Pakistan. Due to this governance, people are deprived of the very basic rights which are clearly mentioned in the Country's Constitution. Therefore, I want to make a change by becoming a part of Country's Civil Services and try my level best to improve the public service delivery and bring ease for the public and work for the betterment of different departments of the Country.

A part from serving the public and working for the betterment of the Country, I also want to have a sense of career for myself and for this purpose, the Civil Service is a great career choice because it offers all the necessities that a person needs. Other than materialistic needs, the Civil Services also gives a person fame and social recognition. That's why my second reason for becoming a Civil Servant is making my own career and achieving what a person needs.

To move on, my third reason for becoming a Civil Servant is that I like to learn new things and do experience interacting with different people of different regions. Yet again, Civil Services is the best field to learn new things interact with different people from different regions and backgrounds, thus, this attribute of Civil Service attracted me to go for joining it.

To Cap it all, my desire to become a Civil Servant is driven by the factors mentioned above. Since long I have been struggling to pursue my this desire and become a Civil Servant to service my people and Country, to secure a good career for myself and learn from the people.
