Role Of Affection In Education

What?

Modern educationist often ignoring children to enjoy their company. If they treated children with affection so it is possible ^{who will consider who's suggestions???} they will consider their suggestion. But if they can not ~~he~~ treated them with affection then no child will be interested in their effort. The desirable liking is enjoying their company without mentally disturbing them. Unfortunately, it is not possible for teachers to affectionate children. Because of their work burden which leads them to fatigues later on than in irritation. Which lose their instinctive liking for children. There is no specific rule as how to treat a child. If child feels you like him then every decision will be right. Effective Teaching requires affection rather than rigid rules.
