

Indent the paragraph.

M T W T F S

Date: _____

Problems in Human Development

Since human development, men have been facing calamities. These were caused by nature and other human beings on each others. Due to the worst environment, humans were rare species as they have no adaptability features for extreme conditions. Their unique biological structures made them supreme to all species. The natural disasters still occurred which made difficult the survival of human beings. However, with scientific knowledge human learnt to prevent from these conditions. But the effect men passing to others through culture still presist. Thus, the love for authority leads human for devastation so the fear exists in people's lives.

Poor sentence structure in this sentence.