

Dynastic Politics is the worst mockery of democracy

1- Introduction

Thesis statement Dynastic politics impedes the true aura of democracy, as it undermines merit, empowers feudalism, advance corruption, and establishes one authoritative power center.

2- Overview of dynastic politics.

3- Why dynastic politics is the worst mockery of democracy.

a- It destroy merit and advance flattery culture in party —

A case of Bangladesh

b- It strengthen feudalism and aristocratic symbiotic nexus. —

A case of Pakistan;

c- It destroys the political culture of party — A case of North Korea

d- It defranchise grass root political workers

e- It strengthen corruption and non-transparency in decision making

f- It create an authoritative single power center — A case of

PMLN, PPP

g- It promotes elitism and Scith culture.

h- It lead to bad governance and governance failure — A Case of Rajapaksa Srilankan family.

i- It exacerbate rissing and election theft practices.

j- It foster an benevolent master mindset in the family — ruling

Create a link how these points are counter to the democratic essence Convey your ideas in a clear manner

Focus on your grammar

A case of Zimbabwe.

4 - ways to make dynastic politics more acceptable to democratic practices.

Not a good suggestion
Promotion of meritocracy

- a - Set a limit on family.
- b - Foster transparency and accountability in decision making process.
- c - Regular Intra party election to be held with non family member operating as Custodian.
- d - Linking performance with tangible key performance indicators.
- e - Establishing and empowering independent election body to monitor and regulate political parties.

The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves that we are underlings. These words of Caesar in the shakespeare play aptly represent today political situation. Dynastic politics is becoming a pervasive threat to democracy as it impedes merit, empower aristocratic feudalistic elite mind set, and leads to the creation of one power center in the party, and that is the ~~family~~ <sup>family</sup> running the show. This concentration of power in the family advances a culture of flattery and submissiveness and often lead to blind devotion, which crib novel critical mind set in the party. Moreover, the deterioration of political culture is the by-product which often time lead to might is right mindset. Similarly, elitism become entrench whereby <sup>economic</sup> interest of selective close relatives are safeguarded at the altar of many. However, dynastic political <sup>leaders</sup> are elected by the will of people. They do represent the people constitutionally but by putting checks like term limit, intra party election and linking performance with key-performance indicator. This system can be made democratic, transparent and effective. None the less, it is important that an effort must be made to discourage dynastic politics. These efforts must incorporate an whole of Society approach whereby local grass root leadership must be empowered. Similarly, student bodies establishment will provide nursery source for future leaders. By an effort together true essence of democracy will not only be preserved but will lead to better, informed and citizen-centric governance.

Adopt a formal writing style

Write in a coherent and structured manner

Focus on your writing skills