6 Conclusion:

Introduction

In his poem "Holy Thursday" William Blake represents the true faces of children's childhood. They wore beautiful dresses and perform the religious ceremony. In his second poem "Holy Thursday" he depicts the reality of the world and depicts about the children's horrible situation in the society. He adopts rhetoric method as he said "Is this a holy thing to see on the land of praise". The poet described the situation of London after the Industrial revolution. It is unfortunately, this social negligence can also observe in the society even after the Artificial Intelligence revolution. Although, the present life the present life is more easier than the later life. People can perform their a lot of work through machines. Despite of such facilities the children are still facing the negligence at every field of life.

The government should not adopt strict legislation for the protection of children and not take proper steps for the children's education. The child marriage deprived the little girl from their childhood, domestic violence impact on psychological health of the children.

The children are facing the social negligence which will destroy not only the child's future but the future of the nation's and peace of the society. There are various measure which should be adopted by the government and society which will improve <sup>helpful for</sup> the safety of the children.

The government should adopt strict legislation and take steps for children's education. Collaboration with NGOs will help in saving the children's from social violence at workplace and at various places. Impose strict punishment against culprits. Whereas, at individual level, the parents should perform the duties and provide suitable environment for the protection of the children. Despite the efforts of international organizations for the safety of the children, the society is still destroying the childhood of the children. It will create a broken society. Then it is easy to save the children rather than to mend a broken man.

their lives. In the present era the society neglected the children. They violate their basic rights by depriving them from education. The children are becoming the victim of social injustice. In this way the society snatches their world of innocence where the world is filled with love and carefree. This neglected behaviour drives the children into the world of experience which is filled with cares, worries and sorrows.

There are various ways which show that how society neglect the children. The children is being humiliated at every level of the development in the country. girls' childhood. The parents prefer to marry their daughter before the age of 18. This practice indulges the girl into world of experience. She is herself a child. She does not know how to deal with various matters and becomes mother in her early age. According to UNICEF Report 4.6 million girls are being married before the age of 15 and 18.9 million girls are married before the age of 18. The child marriage also effect on the health of the girl. They suffer from various kinds of complication during child birth. They may lose their lives. Therefore the child marriage is one of the ignorant factor of society which directly upon the childhood of the girl's childhood.

The children are not only being humiliated through the practice of child labour and domestic violence but they are also being violated at domestic level.

The parents prefer boy child over girl. They do not take care of their proper education and ignore them.

As according the world health Organization the ratio girls' in Pakistan is malnutrition cases in pakistan are increasing due to the absence of the proper provision of nutrition to them. Therefore, the gender-based discrimination at domestic level deprived the girls from both physical and mental health.

The children are Facing both physical and sexual violence whether they are doing their work at home or as a worker. The children are the most vulnerable victims of ~~Pakistan~~. As in 2013 the case of Fatima which became the victim of sexual violence and the "Justice's wife case" when beat the

In the country like Pakistan. There

The children are neglected by society. The children are the future of a country. If the new generation does not receive proper attention, then society will also have to suffer the drastic consequences. The first impact on the society is the very early stage is the juvenile delinquency. The cases of juvenile delinquency will increase at the high rate of the level. When the children do not receive their basic needs and proper training then they will adopt the other ways for obtaining the basic needs. According to the Positivist Theory of Criminology, the citizen who does not receive their means through legal ways then they will tends towards the other ways. In this way, the society will bear the juvenile delinquency.

(The neglection

The neglection of children's childhood will towards the destruction of the nation. The children will get involved into the criminal activities. Then they do not contribute in the development of the country. As according to Brainly "Save the children, save the future". The society will collapse by not saving the children's childhood. So, the society themselves developed a neglected society.

The destruction of society will lead towards the stagnation of society. The children & cannot contribute in the future of development of the country. As the neglected ~~can~~ can be become as a doctor, engineer, and developer of a nation. The neglected children does not create peace in the future of society. They are the most vulnerable element of the society. They will easily the ~~victim of~~ prey for external forces which will spread anarchy in the society. They accept the neglected behaviour therefore they do not aware about the importance of peace for the society.

As according to an analyst the for solving problems. They do not develop their critical thinking's ability through education. "The lack of care of the children will produce a trouble maker in the society" Jean Paul". So, the careless attitude of society towards children will produce anarchy through in the future.

There are various measures which will prove helpful in creating the bright future of the country. Firstly, the government should take action against the child labour. The government should not only ban on the child labour but also keep proper eye on the implementation of the law in the country. The legislation is not sufficient for country's child social improvement but it also requires proper implementation and action.

The worsened activity of child labour can only be abolished when the legislators keep an eye on its proper implementation.

(Child labour - Maryam Javed - 20 March)

Therefore, the proper legislation about child labour can save the children's hardships in society.

The second and most important step which is the responsibility of the government is to provide education to children.

The government should take proper and disciplined action for the child's education. Although, the Constitution of Pakistan's Article 25A provide the right of education but still our country's child 42.3 million children are out of school. Shehbaz

Sharif has announced the education emergency in 2025 but it does not properly active now. At Pakistan has legislation but has not the proper action. According to UNICEF the basic need of the government of Pakistan is to do action for the protection of child's education right.

In this way, the society will be

be able to develop a civilized society.

Civil societies play an essential role in the country's development. The government should improve the children's condition through the collaboration of organization. These organization with the help of government can identify the problems of the children and work for the problems of the solution of the problem of the children. As the organizations plays an essential role for the children's welfare. As the civil society and organization can solve the problems easily through the collaboration with the government. The private and governments' effort will help to eradicate the problem of the children.

The government should not do only recognizing the problems and its solution but also do action against the cause root cause of the crime. The government Impose strict punishment against the child abusers' culprit. They child abuse can only eliminate in the society through proper actions.

Although the government's security department captured the culprit but every year the cases about child abuse is increasing. This issue occur due to the absence of proper strict punishment for culprits.

"The strict punishment for committing crime is like a deterrent." (Eliot)

Hence the strict punishments are crucial for the saving the childhood of the children.

The social and government's institutional efforts are not proved fruitful until it does not mend at home. The parents are the first institute of a family. The parents should provide friendly and comfortable environment for their children. They should avoid trying to do avoid from those.

action which will ruin the childhood of the children. They build their good relationship with them. As according to an author the children are like the treasure of the family.

When you save your children's childhood then you will save your treasure for future. Therefore, parents should do efforts for their children's happiness.

To be concluded, the society is neglecting the children. They neglect them at every kind of aspect of life. Each institute are contributing in their violation of rights. Although our country is an Islamic country. The Islam also provides protection to children. Despite of all international laws the society is still facing the threat of child abuse. The society gives the opportunity for doing labour, the parents negates their basic right of education. The girls become the playtoy for society. They children are also facing the both physical and sexual violence. The basic impact of the society's negligence is that the society will turn into a jungle. because the children which will lead the society also have received jungle's behaviour from society, destruction, exploitation of right and economic and social backwardness will lead towards destruction. The government should take proper measures by doing legislation, implementation and action for child abuse, education and with the collaboration of non governmental organization will enable them the to resolve the problems. Parents should play their role and save the childhood of their children.

Save the Children

Save the future.
