Title: The Devil's Mind

In the world all the bad things are done by those who do not know about their responsibilities. His thoughts mislead him. There are good minds which are mislead. In 1914 many ^{good} leaders did not ~~took~~ ^{take} the responsibility for their actions. However, no one can question the life of a responsible person. He must be doing something good. The writer says that our politicians waste ~~alot~~ a lot of energy, but not in a useful way. We will be developed if our politician uses their energy in a positive productive way. There are religious conferences held in the world everywhere but there are dangerous minds too. The people who joins those conferences are ~~the~~ mostly the devil's mind. They only criticize the dressing of ladies instead of doing something productive. It would be better if they take their responsibility instead of going to those conferences.
