

Essay:- True peace is not merely the absence of tension;
it is the presence of justice.

Thesis Statement:- True peace is a consequence of national growth. It is established in social, political, and economic sphere through justice, not merely through the reduction of tension. Although countries faces several challenges in applying justice. However, certain measures are required to ensure justice.

Outline:

- I. Introduction
- II. Understanding the concept of peace - An overview.
- III. True peace is not merely the absence of tension while it is the presence of justice.
 - A. Establishes transparency and accountability to create peace through justice, not only through the absence of tension.
 - B. Maintains equality in electoral campaigns to ensure political peace via justice rather than the absence of tension.
 - C. Promotes foreign investment to foster peace and economic stability via justice, not merely of eradicating tension / artificial calm.
 - D. Eradication poverty to bring peace among people through justice, not merely silence of tension.
 - E. Provides maximum opportunities to youth in decision-making to promote peace through justice not suppressed tension.

F. Creates equality in healthcare systems to strengthen peace via justice, not only the silence of tension.

G. Ensures early plans in the disaster management situation to promote peace, not only reduce tension.

IV. Some Challenges faced by countries in applying justice.

A. Rise of illegal work that undermine justice.

B. Lack of equality among people, weakening justice.

C. Weakens institutions due to political interference.

approaching justice.

V. Some suggested measures to ensure justice.

A. Strengthen system through transparency and accountability.

B. Promote public awareness among people.

VI. Conclusion.

x ————— x