

Changing Weather and Human Beings

In countries like northern Europe, where weather matters the most. Temperature becomes the struggling part of life. In winter, humans become lazy whereas, in summer, there is no room for activities. Humans are most engaging in moderate weather. However, in winter, there will always remain a need of materials to prevent weather's harshes. Besides this, man behaves different in equator. Because there is a comfortable life without any stark challenges of weather. The results of changing weather can be seen that how human body reacts according to weather. The life becomes easy in hot weather. On the other hand, reciprocal in weather.

Total words : 330

Required : 110

My words : 105