

Topic: Boredom and Excitement

Boredom as a human behavior factor has been underestimated. In Past, it was considered as a great motive power than present. Animals in prisonment feels restless and bored, but in natural environment, they got busy in focusing enemies, food and different activities that are even they do not want to do, let not them get bored. It is possible apes may also resemble^{to} humans. Difference between present and imaginary ~~circum~~ situation also a significant element of boredom: as some unpleasant events like to ~~struggle~~ struggle to save one's life from enemies ~~can~~ may not be boring. Similarly, ^{delineating} maiden speech in House of Lord does not let bore to someone. The contrasting word excitement is more suitable for boredom than pleasure.