Role of Political parties

Political parties is very helpful for Democracy development in many ways. Its helps to aware citizens about the fundamental right and develop political culture. For the future of a country political party can train new leaderships. Similarly it also gives equal opportunities to all for active participation in policy formulation. Therefore political parties can protect your political, social, and fundamental rights.

plz work on your grammar plz work on your basic writings