

Title: The Pakistani Identity

Initially, people were very conscious of their ethnicity. They belong to the same province, but exact location made a difference. As the time passed, people were assimilated together and a new ethnic Pakistani identity began to emerged. Now their primary identity is Pakistani. Pakistan is a mixture of diverse ethnicities and languages which merge Pakistan into one identity. People shows unity at the time of celebration and the time of ~~an~~ anxiety. This shared evolution preserved the cultural values which makes people Pakistani.
