

Clipboard Font Paragraph Styles Editing

Sample Passage:

1)When we survey our lives and efforts we soon observe that almost the whole of our actions and desires are bound up with the existence of other human beings. 2)We notice that whole nature resembles that of the social animals. 3)We eat food that others have produced, wear clothes that others have made, live in houses that others have built. 4)The greater part of our knowledge and beliefs has been passed on to us by other people through the medium of a language which others have created. 5)Without language and mental capacities, we would have been poor indeed comparable to higher animals.

6)We have, therefore, to admit that we owe our principal knowledge over the least to the fact of living in human society. 7)The individual if left alone from birth would remain primitive and beast like in his thoughts and feelings to a degree that we can hardly imagine. 8)The individual is what he is and has the significance that he has, not much in virtue of the individuality, but rather as a member of a great human community, which directs his material and spiritual existence from the cradle to grave.

PAGE 14 OF 22 5991 WORDS ENGLISH (UNITED STATES) 130%

1. topic sentence
2. supporting detail.
3. argument
4. argument
5. supporting detail.
6. supporting detail
7. argument.
8. conclusion.

Human: A social Animal.

Human life and its activities are dependent on the lives of other human beings. We mostly deal with food, clothes, houses etc that are the product produced by other ~~beings~~ humans. Language, a primary source of knowledge, is derived from earlier societies. A human can't even communicate when raised alone and detached from human society. All the significance of human is due to a member of great human community.