Nāzar Hassan's work: Highlighting Palestine

Nāzar Hassan, the Palestinian filmmaker, produced his first work 'Independence' which was against Israel's notion of Palestinians' Independence. He criticized Israel's annexation of the land. As the news of annexation emerged, the author received Hassan's email regarding his new film: The Grandfathers Path, which the author highly praised. The author believed that one should not fall for enemy's trap and indulge in opposing them, but rather opt the way of Palestinian media and literature which reminds author what all the politics is about. Hassan's new work is similar to this idea. It is an amazing piece of art and has been broadcasted on Al-Jazeera in parts. For its essence, it needs to be viewed in single go without interruptions.
