The judge asked Mr. Thompson if he was seeking compensation for wrongful termination to which the plaintiff replied that he believed he had been unfairly dismissed. The judge then confirmed that he had been let go after eight months and Mr. Thompson affirmed this. The judge explained that, under the law, employees with less than a year of service were not eligible for relief unless there was evidence of discrimination or a specific rights violation. Mr. Thompson protested that he felt his rights had been violated but the judge stated that without such grounds, he could not grant relief. Mr. Thompson then asked if there was anything he could do and the judge responded that his hands were tied by the law. Acknowledging this, Mr. Thompson thanked the judge and said he understood. The judge then dismissed the case.

Q7:-

---- expression.

Ans 7:-

Recently, a controversy arose ~~arose~~ in a book fair in Lahore because instead of focusing on books and literary activities numerous stalls were set up selling food and non-literary items pushing the fair & original purpose to the back burner. Many attendees expressed disappointment feeling that the 'book fair' had largely turned into a food market leaving little room and attention for books, authors and literary discussion. The excessive emphasis on food stalls sparked a debate over whether the event was fulfilling its literary purpose or merely fulfilling the commercial interests.
