personalities, who face difficulties in their life. Like, Abdul Sattar face difficulties in life, they should turn problems into success, strength, hard work and hope.

Problems can look bad, but they can also bring new chances. When something goes wrong, we should not feel sad. Instead, the one should think of a way to make things better. Many good ideas come from difficult times. If we stay strong, and find solutions, so everyone can turn problems into success/opportunities. Thomas Edison failed many times while making the light bulb. But he did not give up. He learned from his mistake. In the end, he made the light bulb, which helped the whole world.

Problems can help us find new ideas and become successful. Thus, every problem is a chance to do something good. If the one keeps trying and stay hopeful, so, problems can turn into opportunities.

Hard time come in everyone's life. When the things go wrong, some people panic and feel hopeless. But stay calm helps us think better and find solutions. If we lose control, problems can feel even bigger. A peaceful mind makes it easier to handle any situation. Nelson Mandela spent 27 years in prison. But he never lost hope. He stayed calm and believed in justice. When he was released, he started working for peace and became the leader of South Africa.

This story teaches us that patience and calmness can turn a bad situation into success. Hence, difficult times do not last forever.

If the one stay calm and believe in ourselves, they can overcome any problem.

Every problem has a solution, but sometimes, the one need think differently. If one way does not work, the one should try another way. Finding new ways help us solve problems faster and better. Instead of giving up, the one should use their mind and creativity to find the best solution. A good example of Albert Einstein, who changed the world with his new ways of thinking. He believed that problems could be solved with new ideas. This teaches us that creativity and hard work can solve even the biggest problems. Hence, every problem has a solution. If we keep trying and think in new ways, can solve any issue.

Life is not always easy. Sometimes, everyone face big problems that make us weak. But staying strong help us get through times. Strong people not give up; they keep trying until they succeed. For example, Helen Keller, her sight and hearing as a child, but she did not lose hope. She worked hard, learned to communication, and became an inspiration for millions. Her story shows that true strength never give up, no matter how hard life gets. Thus, hard times do not last forever. If the one stay strong and keep moving forward, and can overcome any challenges.

~~Big problem are easier to solve, when people work together.~~
~~When we help each other, the one find better solution. Teamwork makes difficult task simple. Instead~~ of struggling alone, the one should join hands with others to fix problem. The best example of Malala Yousafzai, she worked with others to fight for the girls' education. She knew that one person alone could not bring changes. By working with many people, she made education possible for millions of girls worldwide. Her story shows that teamwork can solve the biggest problems. Thus, together, we can achieve more. When everyone works with each other as a team work, no problem is too big to solve.

Stress can make us feel worried and confused, but the one can use it to improve ourselves. Instead of letting stress make us weak, anyone should ~~face~~ it.

into energy to focus on our goals.

When stay calm, and think clearly, stress help us work harder.

Michael Jordan, the famous basketball player, faced a lot of pressure during his career. Instead of letting stress, he used it to improve his game. And he became one of the greatest athletes in history. His story teach us that stress can be turned into motivation for success. Hence, stress is not always bad. It can help us stay focus and achieve success.

Difficult time can feel lost, but wisdom help us to make the right choice. Instead of reacting in anger or fear, the one should think carefully and stay patient. Wise decisions can turn bad situation into a good one. Our holy prophet Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH), faced many hardship in his life, but he always used wisdom to handle challenges.

He never acted in anger, always chose patience and kindness.

His story proved that wisdom in tough time leads to great success. Hence, wisdom helps us face challenges, in the best way.

Hope gives us the strength to move forward, even in difficult time. When things go wrong, some people disappoint and give up. But those who keep hope alive find new ways to succeed. Hope makes us believe that better days will come. It gives us the energy to keep trying. Vick Vujcic was born without arms and legs, but he never lost hope. He believed on ^{to him} his self and worked hard to inspire others.

Today ~~he is~~ motivational Speaker helping people around the world. His story teach us that hope can turn even the ~~hard~~ life into a meaningful one. Hence, ~~hope~~ makes everything possible. If the one keeps believing in ourselves and never give up, can achieve anything.

Many problems in our communities can be solve faster, when people work together. Teamwork brings new ideas, more helps, and better solutions. Instead of waiting for others, we should work join hands to take actions.

When people unite, they can improve society and make life better for future. Like [“]Abdul Sattar Edhi Poverty is a big problem which affects millions of people.

Many people do not have enough food, clothes, or a place to live.

To reduce poverty, one must start programs that provide jobs, education, and financial help for needy people. When everyone works together, can create a world where everyone has a chance to live better.

Dr. Amartya Sen, an economist, worked or find solutions to reduce poverty. He believed that better education, healthcare, and job opportunities can reduce poverty. His research helped govt's create better policies to improve people's lives. His Story

Shows that smart programs can help lift people out of poverty. Hence, starting programs to reduce poverty can change many lives.

If the one help people stand on their feet, can build a fair and strong society.

Helping people start their own work can reduce poverty and create new opportunities. Many talented people have great ideas, but lack of money and guidance. By providing financial help, skill training, and motivations, the one encourage them them to become independent. When more people earn money start their own businesses, and the economy grows, and society become stronger. For example Muhammad Younus, the founder of Grameen Bank, helped poor people start small businesses by giving them microloans. His ideas changed millions of living lives and lifted many out of poverty. Thus, supporting people to start their own work creates a better future.

When people succeed the whole society benefits.

It is better to prevent problems than to fix them later. If we think ahead and take small steps, then one can avoid many difficulties.

Planning, being careful, and making good decisions help to stop problems before they start. Efforts, and resources, making life easier.

Dr. Abdul Kalam, India's former president and scientist, always focused on planning and innovation. He believed in preparing for challenges before they appeared.
