

ROA Sir,

This is Rehmat who has been fighting FSHD for 8 years. Please! Sir, critically evaluate this outline along with introduction.

The politico-religious dimensions of the middle Eastern crisis.

Outline:

1. Introduction:

Thesis statement: Middle East has been suffering from politico ~~and~~ religious crisis. Politically, the region has the history of foreign interventions, dictatorships, military alliances, security threats from non-state actors and military aggressions. Religiously, the middle Eastern nations have experienced religious extremism, Shia-Sunni rivalry, ~~Zionist~~ Zionism ideology, threat to holy sites so on and so forth.

2. Overview of the Middle East:

3. Political dimensions of the middle Eastern crisis:

3.1 Foreign interventions in the internal political issues of the region

3.2 Great powers rivalry

3.3 Non-state actors threat to the nations

Phrase it properly

3.4 Dictatorships in the region

3.5 military alliances in the middle East

4. Religious dimensions of the middle Eastern crisis:

4.1 The rise of religious extremism in middle East

Date: _____

Day: _____

4.2

Shia-Sunni rivalry

4.3

The threats of Zionist Ideology

4.4

Threats to religious sites
in the region

4.5

The spread of sectarian based violence

5. Recommendations to overcome the politico-religious crisis:

5.1

Intervention of international community in the region

5.2

Encouraging diplomacy rather than aggression

5.3

The role of United Nations Security Council (UNSC) is important to maintain peace

6. Conclusion

Date: _____

Day: _____

Marwan Bashra, an author of "Palestine-Israel: Peace or Apartheid" truly said "The shifting sands of the middle East always tell different stories." Middle East has been suffering from numerous issues since the 20th century. The most horrible issues of the region are politico-religious crisis. The politico and religious issues have not only brought chaos in the region but also harmed the lives of civilians. The energy rich and prosperous middle East has long history of politico-religious crisis. Politically, the region has the history of foreign interventions, dictatorships, military alliances, security threats from non-state actors and military aggressions. Religiously, the middle Eastern nations have experienced religious extremism, Shia-Sunni rivalry, Zionism and threats to holy sites. Furthermore, middle East has been suffering from horrible blows of politico-religious crisis which can be protected through numerous steps. There is an urgent need of intervention of international community's intervention. Major powers such as Iran, KSA and Israel should encourage diplomacy rather than aggression. The United Nations

Date: _____

Day: _____

Security Council (UNSC) should play its role so as to maintain peace in the region. ~~Thus,~~ ^{This way,} the politico-religious issues of the region can be reduced.