The founder of Pakistan, on 14 August, 1947, said that all are equal before Pakistan. There must be equal right for all citizen despite of their races, gender and language.

unfortunately the voices of marginalized communities are not listened. Politics, the decision making bodies, does not give them equal representation.

Tokenism has minimized their representation.

This is an elusive version of founder's vision. We must remember that the nation is more than just the sum of its parts. Pakistan can not progress without embracing all its component communities and enabling them to participate equally in building a better future. unfortunately, we had become a country, but we can not become a nation till now.
