

Q: 1

The doctrine of power set by neo-imperial America denies space to counselling because it emphasizes pre-emptive strikes when its security and national interests are at stake.

This approach reflects that to act unilaterally to prioritize national interests and refuses to be influenced by the concerns of other governments.

part.
opic
Q2:- The essence of 'moral equivalence' means to treat the all nations and states morally and equally-comparable. But war doctrine has no moral justification because it believes on preemptive strikes by prioritizing national interests and security.

Q3:- Countries occupied and under the tutelage ^{of hyperpower} have no peace because there is chaos and disorder in these countries. These countries do not run or administer under the democracy, in fact, they have been headed by terrorists and warlord. For, instance, Afghanistan became a war torn country and rehabilitation of its people faces numerous difficulties.

Q4: US and Europe are at odds over the approaches of international conflicts and wars. During the Iraq war European countries oppose the US uni-lateral war in Iraq. Instead they believe in multilateralism and democracy than unilateral military action.

Q5: Tony Blair's theory of 'wise counsel' suggest that hyperpower should offer guidance and counselling instead of unilateral military action. However, it didn't prevail because America is a hyperpower state which believes pre-emptive strike when its security at stake.