lets imagine the times of Plato in which he favoured the monarchy system in which one authoritarian person leads the whole country. Such type of country in which monarchy turns into totalitarian regime. This system would obviously be non-liveable in reality. In this system of state where judiciary comprehensive system would be absent completely this would lead to social disruptions in society where one can easily destroy another persons life. In contrast to no national progress is possible without adequate comprehensive system implementation in affairs of state. The true progress of progress demands a highly progressive comprehensive justice system in all the economic, political, social, technological and legal systems simultaneously. As protecting the rights of women in educational and job opportunities that of men would ensure the national progress. In the same way, when in a society, where both white and black people are treated equally and ensuring the comprehensive justice system for both people will ensure the national progress. Further more, by ending the aristocracy system and promoting the democratic system would lead to the transparency and accountability implementation.

This obviously defines the national progress. While at the state state level where different provinces have conflicts over the water crisis and national resources. But when the comprehensive justice system is implemented that leads to adequate equal distribution of resources to all provinces including water; this would define the national development ultimately. the Political Powers and free from any corruption forces will define the national interests propagation. Due to electoral process transparency at any cost will lead to national development as the selected leaders are on the basis of merit and their true role. In short, the national progress is not possible at any level; either at Political, economical, social and technological level without implementing the Comprehensive justice system in the nation.

With protecting the rights of women in educational opportunities as that of men ensure the national progress. It is the equal responsibility to play their equal and the affairs of state. As women in the national progress demands both men and women. In the country like Pakistan which is a developing country, ensuring the justice system implementation in providing the education to both men and women especially in rural areas. This reduction in reducing the literacy gap through comprehensive legal justice system will lead to progress at the economic, social, technological and political levels. As the SDG-4 emphasizes on transparency on providing the right of education to all people. Therefore, for ensuring the educational right, comprehensive justice system to ensure the right of education of women as that of men will obviously dictate the national progress. Hence, comprehensive justice system for protecting the right of both men and women will lead to national progress.

Both black and white people rights Protection through Comprehensive legal system leads to national progress. No nation can progress at any level at any cost without protecting the rights of black and women people. Nation is composed of a ~~very~~ variety of people of different colours. But what matters truly is their protection of rights in reality. This protection is obvious by the help of Comprehensive justice system. When the protection of black and white people are not protected, the sustainability of the nation is impossible. According to the Martin Luther King, in his famous speech "I have a dream". He clearly tells that he wants the South Africans black people legal rights protection as that of white people, which is only possible through the comprehensive justice system. However, in South white people progressed at that time while black were completely at lost. Hence, comprehensive justice system to protect the right of black and white will ensure the national progress.

Another important nation is the end - to aristocracy. Through justice system implementation will cause the national progress. Aristocracy can be defined as the rule of few; especially of the elites of the state. When the aristocrats rule the political affairs, they undermine the lower or working class interests. They prioritize their needs even their fulfilment by negative ways. This leads to loss of the country. But when the Comprehensive Justice system is there, that can lead to ending the aristocratic phenomenon.

Instead, the democratic leadership will be promoted through comprehensive legal system. The democratic leadership will serve the national interests and priority list as in the South Korea as the ending of aristocracy through judicial comprehensive system had led to the democratic system and the progress of the South Korea is proved. As now South Korea is the 12th biggest economic power in the world. This was obvious through comprehensive justice system that ended the aristocracy. Hence, the comprehensive justice system in ending the aristocratic norms and promoting the democratic way will lead to the national progress. Resolving the water crisis through a comprehensive legal system of all the provinces will lead to prosperity of the country. When the provinces have conflicts over the water

In addition to this, a comprehensive legal system is needed to resolve these conflicts. This leads to political and social views in the country.

Instead, it can be seen that the country will be in political turmoil. As in Pakistan, a comprehensive legal system is needed to resolve the water crisis.

Issue at the state level. In all the provinces, there is constant increasing rivalry over the water crisis and their unresolution due to absence of comprehensive legal system have led to constant conflicts. It would be right to say that national progress is impeded due to absence of comprehensive legal system in Pakistan. Hence, to prosper the national interests, it is important to have a comprehensive legal system in the country to resolve the water crisis.

Supremacy of the law beyond all political powers through the comprehensive legal system will lead to national progress. The supremacy of the law is the most important factor for the actual national progress. While to maintain the supremacy of law beyond the use of political power and forces through comprehensive legal system is the most demanding task required. Without both: supremacy of the law and the comprehensive national legal process implementation, no sector of life can be developed to any level.

Instead, the expectations fall very low when the political usage of power would take control over the supremacy of the law. In short, the national progress demands the national level supremacy of the law. During the Mackay versus Malison case in US supreme court, the supremacy of the importance beyond all the other factors in US Supreme Court. This enhanced the confidence of citizens in the national progress. Hence, the supremacy of law beyond the political powers through comprehensive legal system ensure the national progress ultimately.

In a nation's democratic leadership implementation through a comprehensive legal system inspite of populist leadership will cause the development.
As the democratic leadership is on the basis of majority of common people who will take care of its people necessarily. While the populist leaders will lead to serving the interests of its people on the basis of some specific conditionalities. The disadvantage of populism is also the erosion of majority will. Due to gaining power by populism, the leader can become more powerful and can have concentration of power unnecessarily. Sometimes, even the Person uses this power for his own interests. In addition to it, without comprehensive legal system populist leader can be converted into totalitarian leaders who uses force more violently. On the contrary, in Estonia, democratic leadership through comprehensive legal system ~~has~~ has proved more helpful for its national progress. So, the democratic leadership through comprehensive legal system defines the national progress in true meaning.

Electoral process transparency through comprehensive legal system affects the national progress in a positive way. Electoral system transparency represents that the national progress will be the ultimate product. When there is no any comprehensive legal system in conducting an electoral process, so the voting system is concluded through unfair means. There is great loss to the actual and real democratic process. Those with power take full process by the presence of comprehensive democratic institutionalization in its political affairs. Hence, the national progress of India cannot be restricted. Therefore, transparency through comprehensive legal system in electoral process causes the national progress.

The role of both men and women in having equal opportunities usage by the comprehensive justice system will cause the national progress.
Across the world, no nation can progress if its own gender, that is either men or women is suppressed from playing active role. By playing active role, not only technologically, economically and but also socially.

Progress will be passed. In the developed world, there is strict laws and policies that ensure comprehensive legal process for providing equal opportunities to both men and women. This has led to those developed countries progress at the global level by many folds. It can be evidenced from the Canada's Gender Based Analysis that ensure the comprehensive legal system. Due to this, the prevalence of equal opportunities for both men and women is promoted in Canada. Hence, Canada is among those countries list who have progressed at a fast speed. Thus, equal opportunities to both men and women through comprehensive legal system sustains the national progress.

Children protection measures through comprehensive legal system will lead to national progress. As the children are the future of any country who will lead to development if they are educated, economically stable and technologically advanced. In contrast, if the children of any nation are not safe. They are being exploited at domestic level. In addition, the children are brutally treated for cheapest wages in the industrial sectors. So how it will be possible to build an educated nation in future. But when the comprehensive legal system of justice is in place who protect the rights of children not only at domestic level but also at children protection at their labour level in industries or in the prisons; so the progress of that nation cannot be undermined. In India, who is developing at a fast level, the children protection through Juvenile Justice Act have shown helpful for protecting the children from otherwise injustices. This will ensure the national progress of India. Hence, the Transparency (Moreover, the transparency in protecting the victims of blasphemy cases who are illegally suspect will lead to national progress). This is because the victims are blamed on the wrong dimensions. They are not the real individuals, who show dissenting opinions. They are being treated illegally. Sometimes, many citizens of a nation are caught in blasphemy cases on the false beliefs. Instead, they are having no any concerned with such opinions that are diversifying in nature from the actual path. With such type of citizens, their protection through comprehensive legal system is only possible. Otherwise such innocent individuals can become victims that their treatment sometimes is so crude. Even the deaths of such cases innocent people have often reported.

Thus, there will be no protection of human rights and national progress will be impeded. As in Indonesia, there is a comprehensive legal system for protecting those individuals who express dissenting opinions. Through this process the criminals or the individuals are treated transparently. If someone is innocent, so their protection is ensured.
While this leads to social stability in the country and its progress.

Therefore, protecting innocent individuals in blasphemy cases ensures the people's rights protection and the national progress in return.

Besides protecting the innocent people, a comprehensive legal system for protecting the Muslims from Hindu's violent forces has shown the national progress of Muslims in Subcontinent. When the Muslims were treated so violently by Hindu extremist policies. They were treated as slaves in the sub-continent. They were not given the right to education, speaking Urdu and get good employment opportunities. The justice system was not in favour of Muslims. But at that time, leaders of Muslims demanded a separate state for Muslims of subcontinent, where they could have their rights protection through comprehensive legal system. Thus, with the formation of bank of Pure Pakistan, a comprehensive justice system was implemented.

This system of justice provided protection to Muslims in Pakistan. Thus Muslims in Pakistan showed progress as a Muslim nation in the world having nuclear power as its strength. Hence, protecting the right of any nation from violent forces from opposite nations through comprehensive justice system shows the national progress. Implementation of merit through comprehensive justice system to provide equal job opportunities of a nation ensure the national progress. The youth by having good job opportunities through merit system leads to their interests for the economical progress of that country. In return, the brain drain will be prevented from occurring. The youth potential will be fully utilized in that country. But all this is possible when the comprehensive justice system is strict in implementing the merit system. This provides sources of employment on the basis of youth intelligence and their competence. In Bangladesh, the youth revolted against the government when the comprehensive justice system was absent to provide job opportunities on the basis of meritocracy. Thus, a revolutionary change have occurred in Bangladesh, that have increased the chances for national progress of Bangladesh. Henceforth, providing equal job opportunities to the youth on basis of merit implemented through comprehensive legal system.

Crises the national progress.

Transgender Community rights protection through comprehensive legal system of justice envision the national progress. As transgenders are part of every nation. Their recognition problems are worse. Their social acceptance through comprehensive legal system will be a game changer. Through social acceptance, their rights will be given to them. Either the right to education, employment, casting the vote and acquiring health services will lead to their role ~~play~~ contributed for the national progress. Their potentials will be explored fully for serving their nations. However, it needs and demands of provinces are met timely, this ensure the in the country. This political stability will ensure the economic stability and increase in the GDP of the nation. Such type of nation will be developed nation. As in Pakistan, Balochistan province demands their resources allocation timely through comprehensive justice system ensure the national progress. This is absent unfortunately in Pakistan. But the hopes are high for such comprehensive justice system for national progress. Thus, the sources allocation timely and equally to all provinces through comprehensive justice system ensure the national progress.

One party system despite of multiple parties and its transparency through comprehensive justice system causes the national progress. As multiple parties shows differences in stances regarding the state or national affairs which in turn can lead to political instability and chaos. The national interests will be avoided as its priority will be not ensured. In contrast, the one party will be agreed on one stance majority. This agreeing one piece will serve the nation in the best possible way. This can be proof from the China, a Communist state having one party system; having comprehensive justice system in place. Due to which the China has protected its national interest and citizens. This lead to the rise of China as global power challenging the hegemony of China. Hence single Political Party system implementation through comprehensive justice system implementation causes the national interests.

justice system, checks and balances over the administrative system is impossible. This causes the norms of corruption and bribery in the important administrative affairs of the state. Due to this national progress is impeded. While in South Africa, system of checks and balances over the administrative system through comprehensive justice system have ensure the national progress, at any cost. Hence, the administrative checks and balances by comprehensive justice system leads to national progress and development.

Eradicating corruption and ensuring the taxes payment through comprehensive justice system will also lead to national progress.
Taxes payment by all people of state is necessary for the development of country at a fast speed. While the absence of comprehensive justice system leads to tax evasion by the industrialists and the stakeholders or the elites. This shows the whole burden of taxes on the poor and middle class, who are unable to pay such high taxes. Thus the national progress will be impossible to acquire.

The difference in class in society will be widened. The stakeholders will become more powerful while lower working class will become more poorer. In the Sweden, the comprehensive justice system has led to the decrease in the white criminals more due to less chances of tax evasion. All people equally pay the taxes through Sweden's tax system transparency. The national progress of Sweden is thus high. Thus, comprehensive justice system for paying taxes equally by all ensure the national progress.

In a nation progress, health professional safety through comprehensive legal and justice system causes the national progress. The health professional are those who are working for the well being of state and its citizen all the time. For whole life, they dedicate their services for serving humanity. Many of the patients regain their health from fatal diseases. Hence these health professional require their safety at workplaces through comprehensive justice system. Due to such actions, the fatal diseases will be treated or either eradicated. In the developing countries like Pakistan, comprehensive justice system is needed to protect the health professionals of polio workers across the backward areas. Their safety will ensure the polio drops providance to all the children. Due to which

Pakistan name will also be included in those countries list like US, Canada, India and Bangladesh; from where polio is completely eradicated. Hence, the health professionals safety through comprehensive justice system ensure the national progress on a broader level.

Another important notion for national progress is the protection of women rights through comprehensive legal system. The women in the world are being treated violently. Their property rights are not given. Financially they are being made dependent on men. So they can be exploited. While at professional work places, their safety is not ensured. These women faces work place harassment. Thus their role is often negated as the absence of comprehensive legal justice system could further fuel to the condition severity.

Even doing travelling to other cities is also challenging. In the motorway rape case of women, comprehensive justice system is demanded. While its absence totally has not protected the women from such attempts. While the true national progress requires the safety of women at any cost through comprehensive legal system of justice. Thus, protecting the women will ensure the national development.

In short, the national progress and development requires the comprehensive justice system implementation at any cost. This will cause the social, economical, technological and political development much more rapidly. This requirement of comprehensive ^{justice} legal system is the necessity of the any nation in order to have development. The comprehensive justice system ensure the

At the legal rights protection level for children rights, comprehensive justice will avoid the working mistreatment again. The cyber criminals who violate the rights of common citizens by making their life miserable requires the strict policies to get them caught. In providing opportunities to the youth on the basis of democracy will save both the present and future of the nation.
