The Essay

“The Ethnic Cleansing of Palestine” by Eyal Niv, an author of end chapters of his book. “The shifting sands of the Middle East always tell different stories to the world.” The author urged that the political arena of the Middle East is different from South Asia and Europe. Every wind in the sandy region changes the political landscape of Middle East. Undoubtedly, same is the case with the current political dynamics of Middle East. The existing political landscape of Middle East tells painful, dangerous and scary stories. The existing political demography of Middle East includes the fall of Al-Assad regime, Israel's emergence as a regional power and setback to resistance fighters. Besides, Israel vs. Iran's rivalry, the chaotic future of Gaza and Israel's dream of “Greater Israel” are the part of political landscape of Middle East. Also, disintegration among Arab leaders and tensions in Red Sea are contributing to destabilize the region. These all issues of the Middle East's politics can be resolved through numerous developments. These developments include the use of diplomacy, ceasefire in Gaza, two state solution to Palestine and involvement of international community. Thus, the current chaos in the Middle East can be eliminated.
