

Pakistan in UNSC

Pakistan has finally joined UN Security Council as a non-permanent member for next two years, replacing Japan in one of the two seats in Indo-Pacific. This entry marks Pakistan's eighth-term as a non-permanent member, achieving a diplomatic victory. Pakistan has joined UNSC in complex geopolitical and geostrategic environment compounded by burgeoning wars in the region and outside, threatening impacts of climate change, and growing economic challenges worldwide.

The world has engulfed with multifaceted challenges and entered in unprecedented complexities. The role of Pakistan in the scenario will mark the diplomatic standing of the country and presents several opportunities as well.

Starting from the growing wars and aggression of terrorist groups, the country has clear standing of maintaining peace through active collaboration of all stakeholders. The diplomatic standing of Pakistan on Syria, Gaza, and Ukraine is unambiguous in any term.

make diplomatic standing more prominent at global stage

The country seeks diplomatic and political solutions of all conflicts in the world and foster dialogues and diplomatic engagement. Moreover, the peaceful resolution of Kashmir issue and Palestine crisis is on the cards. The country want multilateral cooperation of all ~~issues~~ ~~ranging~~ ~~from~~ non-traditional security threats ranging from climate change to technological maneuvering. The growing threat of climate change and world's obliviousness towards it is a main agenda of Pakistan, as the country is the most vulnerable of climate-driven threats. Moreover, the growing threat of terrorism from Afghanistan and RAW-sponsored separatist movements are concern of the country. Along with the opportunities, the country will have several challenges, such as growing diplomatic outreach of India and entangled relations with the USA. India aggressiveness in the region and its ~~ideal~~ relationship with the western world will blur the diplomatic outreach of Pakistan and all the efforts made in UNSC will may prove a house of cards.
